Habeas Corpus:

- Protects against unlawful imprisonment
- Ensures prisoners will not be detained indefinitely

The Military Commissions Act:

- Eliminates constitutional habeas corpus right
- Allows the government to hold prisoners up to five years without charges
- Allows any President to determine who is an enemy combatant
- Allows any President to decide who can be held indefinitely without charge
- Allows any President to define what is (and what is not) torture

The only thing scarier than a government who takes away these freedoms is a Congress and people who let them.
